Did You Know?

If you are a Saint Mary's graduate, you can waive a potential Gael's application fee to apply to the College. Many enrolling students say the primary reason they

Performing Arts Student Spotlight

While Nakia Gibbs '17 majors in theatre performance and theatre studies, her skills stretch far beyond acting. Last year, she wrote, directed, produced, choreographed, and edited a video called Dear Little Black Girl, screened at the Expressions of Blackness cultural night. "I wanted to start a movement to say, 'Dear little black girl. You can do this.'"

SEBA Faculty Move Back to Campus

Faculty from the School of Economics and Business Administration have taken up residence in the newly renovated Power Plant, built in 1928 to house the boilers supplying heat and hot water to the campus. To celebrate SEBA's move back to the main campus from Rheem, the school looks back at its long history.

Perseverance and Grit

There's something about San Francisco's De Marillac Academy, a Catholic school run by the Daughters of Charity and De La Salle Christian Brothers, that educators find astounding—its focus on perseverance and students who never give up.

GaelPantry Opens

Members of the SMC community gathered last week to celebrate the opening of the GaelPantry, an on-campus food pantry for students struggling to afford food in the face of high college costs. Many colleges nationwide have recently opened campus food pantries. The GaelPantry reflects the teachings of Jean Baptiste de La Salle, who believed in leveling the playing field for all students. Mission and applied was because of encouragement by Gael alumni who shared how much they loved their Saint Mary's experience. Please take advantage of this opportunity to help sustain this powerful tradition. Share your experience, continue the tradition, and endorse a future Gael—for free.
