Cyber Security Message from CTO Peter Greco

News about cybercrime and cyber espionage has become all too familiar to us. In order to stay current and aware of potential cyber threats, ITS has developed a Cybersecurity Awareness Training Program. Please read the letter from the Office of the Chief Technology Officer and stay tuned for more information.

CALC Program Opens Doors to Science

Hispanic and low-income students studying science at Saint Mary's now have more access to tutors in the STEM Center, mentors, internships, and diverse speakers, thanks to the CALC \(Caminos a Las Ciencias or Pathways to Science\) program, funded by the $2.7 million Hispanic Serving Institution STEM grant the College received from the U.S. Department of Education last year. Part of the program includes a new partnership with Los Medanos Community College that sets up transfer students to succeed at SMC. De La Salle Reflections

For the week of Oct. 9.

Learn how to submit Events and Announcements.

Students gathered last week in Hagerty Lounge for career tips and advice from three successful liberal arts alumni working in entertainment—Erin Kinda '14, production coordinator at Pixar, writer Emilia Serrano '95, who has worked on "Jane The Virgin," and Wayne Billheimer '94, visual effects executive producer at Industrial Light and Magic. Audience questions ranged from the speakers' professional journeys to their collaborative creative process. The event was part of the Career and Professional Development Services' new programs on opportunities for liberal arts students.

Stellar Summer Research

More students participated in the School of Science's Summer Research Program this summer than ever before—17 students from seven different majors worked with faculty. They conducted research in subjects from the ozone weekend effect (when amounts of pollutants change on weekends) to the pratfall effect (a social psychological phenomenon when near-perfect individuals seem more attractive making minor mistakes).

#YouGoGael: New Instagram Student Series

Our inspired social media students have launched #YouGoGael, a new photograph series on Instagram regularly featuring different students. Meet the first highlighted student, Kayva Maddali '18, politics and English double major, co-founder of the College Republicans and the Green Gaels. Students: To nominate yourself or a friend for the next #YouGoGael post, DM us on Instagram.

College Hosts Literacy Conference

KSOE's Reading Recovery Center hosted about 150 classroom teachers, reading and intervention specialists and administrators at last week's fall 2017 Literacy Conference. Peter Johnston, emeritus professor from SUNY Albany, presented the keynote. Other speakers included Lea McGee (emeritus professor from The Ohio State University), Silvia Dorta-Duque de Reyes (a national biliteracy consultant), and center director Adria Klein.

View

Parents and family members reconnected with their SMC students last weekend at Parent and Family Weekend and got a taste of campus life through lots of activities, including a barbecue, the School of Science poster session, and wine and cheese with the Brothers.
