After 5,000 votes, the Round of 16 of Seminar Madness has been decided. There were several tight races — only one vote separated the Bible from Dickens' Hard

Matthew Zapruder Poetry Editor of NYT Magazine

English professor and poet Matthew Zapruder has been named the new poetry column editor for The New York Times Magazine. Zapruder, who will select and introduce poems weekly for the 120-year-old national Sunday magazine, succeeds former U.S. Poet Laureate and Emory University Professor Natasha Trethewey. His year-long appointment began March 6.

SMC Wins Sustainability Silver Stars Award

From turning compost into electricity to educating students on the importance of being stewards of the planet, SMC has taken another step in expanding environmentally sustainable practices. For the first time, the College was recognized as a STARS Silver Institution "based on its reported accomplishments in campus sustainability."

1Day1SMC Returns March 16

Last March we made history. And the entire Saint Mary's community was part of it! A record-breaking 1,649 alumni, parents, students, faculty, staff, and friends came together to raise $234,643 in just 24 hours. On Wednesday, March 16, we are going to do it again—but bigger! Get ready to spread the word, give, and be part of this exciting day.

Cultural Nights Continue with the BASH

Times. Did your favorite make it through? Be sure to vote in Round 2 beginning today through Sunday! Every vote counts. Also, everyone is invited to join in a one-day marathon reading of Homer's Odyssey (last year's Seminar Madness winner), which begins April 27 at 8 a.m. on the Chapel Lawn. Sign up to read a section!

This year's BASH Cultural Night focuses on normalizing LGBTQIA experiences through a "Rewrite the Story" theme offering a safe place for students to share stories with the SMC community. All are invited to share food, spoken word, and performances March 9, 6-9 p.m. in the Soda Center. Free tickets are available at the door starting at 5 p.m.
