Interim Athletic Director Announced

President James Donahue has chosen Senior Associate Athletics Director Kami Gray '02, CLAD Credential '04, MA '06 to serve as the College's interim director of Athletics and Recreation. "She is an accomplished alumna and as a former student-athlete—she played softball for the College—she understands the concerns and needs of our student-athletes," Donahue said.

All the Right Moves

Before he earned a basketball scholarship at Saint Mary's, Jordan Ford '20 excelled in a different sport: chess. Ford—a two-time state chess champion—credits the game for his mental strength on the court. "Chess just helps you think on a different level than any other sport," he said.

Finding an MBA program to fit her busy schedule was a daunting task for Maria Smith EMBA '17. The mother of three small children, Smith was working full-time as a senior financial analyst at the Lockheed Martin Space Systems Company when she began searching for the right graduate program.

The Art of Systems

Assistant Professor of Art and Art History Andrew Mount, who began teaching at SMC in 2014, modified his teaching style to accommodate non-art majors. "I've seen students go from having absolutely no experience with art, to becoming very confident...about their status as creative individuals," he said.

"That has been a very rewarding thing to witness."
