Did You Know?

For the fourth straight year, the men's basketball program is being represented by a former player in the NBA Finals. Matthew Dellavedova '13, the 2012 West Coast Conference Player of the Year, and the Cleveland Cavaliers faced the defending champion Golden State Warriors in the first two games of the best-of-seven series at Oakland's Oracle

Roundtable: Beneath the Surface

Even in this era of curated identities and online sharing, it's still difficult to truly know the life of another person. So in the spring 2016 magazine we asked: Can you tell us something about yourself that people might not already know?

Rheem Boulevard to Close for Four Months

Rheem Boulevard will be closed between Fay Hill Road and 591 Rheem Boulevard from June 15 to late October to stabilize an existing landslide and repair the roadway. To minimize the duration of the closure, the town of Moraga will allow construction 7 a.m.–6 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m.–5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Legacy of Joltin' Joe

Ken Weseloh '77 works to preserve stories as the president of the Joe DiMaggio Hometown Hero Project in Martinez. Plans include commissioning a mural, erecting a statue, creating a permanent museum, working on an oral history, and finding a home for the 22-foot Joltin' Joe, DiMaggio's boat.

Arena on Thursday and Sunday (the Cavs lost both games). The next NBA Finals game is Wednesday, at 6 p.m. in Cleveland. Patrick Mills, the first Gael since Tom Meschery to play in a NBA Final, helped the San Antonio Spurs defeat Miami in 2013. Last season, Dellavedova played a big role when the Cavaliers advanced to the finals against the Warriors without injured guard Kyrie Irvine and forward Kevin Love. Both Dellavedova and Mills will play for Australia in the Olympics this summer.
