MBA Program #2 in U.S. for Return on Education

SoFi (Social Finance, Inc.) named SMC as the second best school in the nation for "Return on Education" for its MBA programs—ahead of all other California universities. SoFi's rankings analyzed 240,000 student loan refinancing applications to determine which schools delivered the best salary-to-debt ratio.

Campus Master Plan Community Meetings

After years of preparation, Saint Mary's draft campus master plan, a key part of the College's strategic plan, is ready for its big debut. There will be two open house meetings in December, one for the SMC community Dec. 9, in Hagerty Lounge, 12–1 p.m. and one for the larger community on Dec. 12, 12-2 p.m. where a Notice of Preparation (NOP) will be announced.

Greenhouse Grows Again

The forgotten greenhouse in the back corner of the Assumption Hall parking lot has been lovingly restored by two students and Biology Professor Anthony Talo. Now the fully redone greenhouse can serve as a place for students to grow model plants, such as corn and tobacco, chosen because their structure makes them easy to study.

Viewpoint

In recognition of their outstanding performances in Chaste, Kimiya Shokri '19, Angelo Chukwedebe '19, and Michael Craigen '16 were nominated by the American College Theatre Festival for the Irene Ryan National Acting Scholarship competition. With this recognition comes the opportunity to represent Saint Mary's at ACTF's Region VII Festival in February, alongside three nominees from the spring '15 cast of Good Person of Setzuan (Quinci Waller '17, Jack Clifford '16, and Brandon English '16). The responders praised the synergy of the Chaste ensemble and said the company took "incredible risks." ACTF also awarded two certificates of meritorious achievement to composer Zach Barbieri '15 and stage manager Sarah Finn.
