Samantha Schultz '17, Abigail Hayes '16, and Brianna Bibel '16 (above) talk about their research in astrophysics and biology, and how Saint Mary's supports and nurtures women studying science in these four videos.

Business and Catholic Values Coexist

Carolyn Woo, president and CEO of Catholic Relief Services, spoke last week about driving positive change by improving business practices. Sponsored by SEBA and the Elfenworks Center for Responsible Business, Woo's "Business and the Common Good" talk focused on how business infrastructure can uplift the poor.

Loma Prieta '89 Recollections

Did You Know?

The fall 2015 issue of Saint Mary's magazine is out.

Pick up a copy around campus or read it online. This issue includes feature stories on Professor Greg Smith's cutting-edge human anatomy class, the College's bold plan for the future, and how Teachers for Tomorrow alums stay committed to the classroom.

Do you have a little-known tidbit or story about Saint Mary's? Send it to Campus News.

Go Gaels

Record Day for Gaels at Bronco Invitational

It was a record day for the Saint Mary's men's and women's cross country teams Saturday at the Santa Clara Bronco Invitational, as both programs used the always-fast Baylands Park course to the fullest advantage in setting new team time records and marking up the Gaels' all-time top-10 individual lists.
