Matthew Boger was thrown out of his home at age 13 for being gay and, while living on the streets in Hollywood, was savagely beaten by a group of neo-Nazi skinheads. Twenty-five years later Boger met Tim Zaal, one of his attackers. Their tragic encounter and their road to forgiveness was chronicled by Berkeley filmmaker Jason Cohen. Facing Fear was nominated in 2013 for an Academy Award for best short documentary.